North Carolina Town Outbids Others in Seeking the Teachers.

GREAT INTEREST IN AWARD

Citizens Subscribe One Hundred Thousand Dollars for the Project.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., July 10.—Greenville, North Carolina, gets the Eastern North Carolina Teachers' Training School. This announcement was made to-night, after an all-day session of the State Board of Education for the consideration of the corrected and amended bids, in compliance with a recent order of the board. The delegations here from several of the towns in the contest were assembled in the Capitol Square Grove, when Lieutenant-Governor Winston, for the board, came from the executive office and "broke the news" of the action of the board.

Later, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joyner stated that the Harrington site, in Greenville, was selected, this having forty-three acres, valued at $5,000. Altogether, Greenville gives $100,000, including bonds and site, less the cost of the school. The Harrington site was about $2,000. State Senator J. M. Fleming and County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale were here to press the claims of Greenville in the hearing.

The only real chance in any of the bids from the original hearing was by Washington, her pledge being raised from $50,000 to $95,000, with the 200-acre site. Superintendent Harry Howell was here for Washington. Kinaston was represented by Charles Collins and J. W. Granger, and Rocky Mount by E. L. Daughtridge, R. B. Davis and W. R. Wilkerson. The other four towns—Elizabeth City, Newbern, Tarboro and Edenton—merely wrote the board that their original bids should stand, and they were anxious to have the institution, pledging every support possible. The last Legislature appropriated $25,000, leaving location and local aid to State Board.

MAN DIES IN STREET RUNAWAY

Joe McDaniels Thrown from Buggy and Dragged to His Death in Moment.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SALISBURY, N. C., July 10.—Joe McDaniels, aged twenty-seven years, an employee of the Arey Distilling Company, was killed on the streets of Salisbury last night in a runaway accident. Together with a friend, McDaniels was out driving when the horse took fright at some trivial matter and dashed down street at a rapid rate, throwing both occupants of the buggy. McDaniels' feet were caught in the running works of the vehicle, and his head dangled to the ground. One leg and a shoulder were broken, and his head horribly battered and bruised by being dragged over the pavement for four blocks. He was picked up dead, having been literally dragged to his death. His companion escaped with slight injuries by jumping when the animal first took fright. McDaniels leaves a young widow.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., July 10.—E. R. Edwards, of Raleigh, has been arrested in Durham and brought here to answer the charge of embezzlement, made by Swift & Co., meat packers, Edwards having been formerly manager for the company in Raleigh. Edwards gave bond this morning in Justice of the Peace Separk's court, his bondsman being his uncle, F. O. Moring, a prominent cotton mill man of the city. The amount charged to have been embezzled is about $170. Edwards' defense is that he found it impossible to get a settlement with the company, and that he held the amount in question, pending a settlement.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR CITY SERGEANT

Race Promises to Be Warm from Start—Mr. James Anthony Urged to Enter.

Although the contest for City Sergeant will not be determined until 1908, it is already becoming a live issue, and new men are mentioned for it nearly every day. Captain Robert Le Masurier has definitely announced his candidacy, and Sergeant Smith and Sheriff John E. Epps are already at work. The friends of Mr. James Anthony are urging him to run, and he has the matter under advisement, though he has not made up his mind concerning it. Mr. Anthony is the proprietor of a cigar manufacturing establishment in the city, and is quite a popular young man.

Alderman Satterfield, of Marshall Ward, will probably enter the lists, as will also Councilman E. W. Miner, of Clay Ward.

The position is one of the most lucrative in the city government, and the salary and fees make it an one worth fighting for. Sergeant Smith has held the office for a number of terms, having defeated Mr. H. Claiborne Epps, who was in office at the time and who was standing for re-election.

BURY BRAZILIAN IN FOREIGN LAND

Sailor With Fleet Now in Hampton Roads Dies Suddenly of Beri Beri.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., July 10.—Death from beri beri an hour after being admitted to patient in the United States Naval Hospital was the fate of Aurelio Bispo, a sailor from the Brazilian Squadron, lying in the upper harbor, this morning.

Bispo's illness was sudden and terrible. It was not known on board his vessel until this morning that the man had the disease, and application was made immediately to Rear-Admiral Berry, commanding the station, for permission to send the patient to the hospital. It was granted, and Bispo was transferred to the hospital wharf in a ship's cutter, and was met by an ambulance. He died shortly after reaching the hospital.

The Brazilians then asked permission to bury Bispo in the naval cemetery, and this request also was granted. The funeral was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Father Reynolds, chaplain of the receiving ship Richmond, conducted the services, and a firing party was brought over from the Brazilian ships.

MAIDEN PLUNGE OF BIG CAISSON

Queer Looking Craft Fell Overboard Too Soon and Went to Bottom.

NORFOLK, VA., July 10.—Sliding smoothly down the ways, the caisson for the new dry dock at the Navy Yard made a sideways plunge into the Southern Branch at 9:15 o'clock this morning.

As the queer-looking craft reached the edge of the sea wall and tripped the sliding ways, she keeled over and hit the water broadside, sending a mighty volume of water high in the air, and projecting a big wave across the river, which made the old receiving ships tug at their moorings, chains and all the landing floats alongside dance and duck and dance again. The caisson went clean to the bottom, and then arose and righted herself, and lay wallowing in the turmoil of water which her maiden plunge had made. The sideways launching of the caisson was regarded as a rather difficult job, but was carried out without a hitch.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] AMHERST, VA., July 10.—Judge Bennett T. Gordon today closed a special term of court begun here yesterday for the purpose of hearing the application of J. E. Campbell for a whiskey distillers' license in a temperance district in this county. After hearing much evidence the application was denied. There is not now a single licensed distillery in Amherst county. He ordered a local option election in Pedlar District for the 21st of August. Judge Gordon refuses to grant licenses in this district for the manufacture of whiskey on the ground that it was a dry district.

LEAGUE REVIEWS LASSITER'S RECORD

Temperance Forces of Petersburg Say He Has Lined Up With Liquor Element.

IS EVIDENTLY FOR DOYLE

Dinwiddie Man Replied in Satisfactory Manner to League's Seven Questions.

PETERSBURG, VA., July 10.—The Petersburg Anti-Saloon League issued this afternoon its expected statement regarding the candidates for the Democratic nomination to the State Senate in this district, in the context for which between Charles T. Lassiter, of this city, and John R. Doyle, of McKenney, Dinwiddie county, the Anti-Saloon League men in this city are taking an active part. In the following statement the league reviews the recently published card of Mr. Lassiter, in which he presented his opinions regarding the seven specific propositions contained in the league's legislative program.

Mr. Lassiter's Statements Reviewed: Mr. Doyle's Reply to the Anti-Saloon League. One of the duties of the Anti-Saloon League is to secure and disseminate information to the public concerning the attitude of candidates for office towards temperance legislation. In the advancement of this duty we herewith offer some observations concerning Mr. Lassiter's statements on this subject. Mr. Lassiter says:

"My public record discloses that I have always taken a decided and intelligent interest in this vital question. In reply to this it may be said that his record in the General Assembly does not disclose or even indicate the interest which he has taken in this question, and admitted by him that he has consistently opposed the Mann bill, and we feel that the record of his public life is unfavorable to him on this point. Any measure proposed by the league, with possibly one exception, in view of these facts his reference to his public temperance record is most unfortunate."

In his general statement concerning temperance legislation, Mr. Lassiter says: "My mind is open to any argument that does not override fundamental provisions of law or seek to disregard the limitations of human nature." At first blush this sounds well, even captivated by the words "human nature," which he has taken to mean "human nature." Who is to be the judge of these two propositions, a single individual or the body of the legislature? Mr. Lassiter has taken it to himself to be the judge in such matters may possibly explain his record in the General Assembly. The Anti-Saloon League, under the best trained minds of this Commonwealth, legally and constitutionally proposed, and every measure proposed by us has been the standard of the reasonable public; but, on the other hand, few indeed are the measures proposed by us that have met the requirements of Mr. Lassiter. His public record, to which he invites attention, discloses that he has not a competent judge in these matters.

As to "Folk Clubs." While Mr. Lassiter has published his record with regard to the proposed legislative program on temperance, he does not commit himself on the equally important proposition No. 2, and 3.

Proposition No. 2.—As to so-called "Folk Clubs." They are not in fact clubs. They are not subject to the restrictions imposed upon saloons. They are not required to be located so as to front the streets, but are frequently found in the back of houses, in the most secluded places. By a shameful evasion of the spirit of the law they are open day and night, and they are a source of temptation and temptation to men, women and children, both white and colored; all the classes of society are attracted to these places, and they are a source of shame and dishonor to the community. A short time ago our secular papers were replete with the vilest and most disgusting accounts of the debauchery of these places. While Mr. Lassiter deprecates this condition, he has not the courage to do so, or to take any steps to remedy it. He has no objection to the present law. Through the administration of the law, the present law is in some of the judicial districts, but have hopelessly failed in others. The administration of the law is not the responsibility of the legislature, but of the executive and the judiciary. As the law now stands, it is ineffective. As the law now stands, it is ineffective. As the law now stands, it is ineffective.

Proposition No. 5.—As to the fifth proposition in the proposed legislative program, Mr. Lassiter has been corresponding with the presidents of the Atlantic Coast Line, Norfolk and Western and Seaboard Air Line Railroads regarding the proposed establishment of a union station in this city. President Garrett, of the Seaboard, says in this regard, "I would not be interested in the plan. President Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, simply thanks Mr. Davis for the offer of the good offices of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter, and President Johnson, of the Norfolk and Western, suggests a conference regarding the plan."

Death of Mrs. Belcher.

Mrs. Alfreda Belcher, widow of Andrew Belcher, died at half-past 9 o'clock last evening at her residence, on Main Road, in Ettrick, after a long period of ill health. Mrs. Belcher is survived by one son, Mr. J. E. Belcher, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. A. T. Wilson, of Gretna, Va. Mr. Roscoe Conkling Jones died yesterday afternoon at his boarding-house, on Byrne Street. Mr. Jones was twenty-five years old, and was a native of Granville county, N. C. He had resided in Petersburg about four years. His parents have been notified of his death.

The death of Mr. John P. Kane, at his country home, at Huntington, L. I., is announced in a telegram received to-day by Mr. James H. Bailey, of this city. Mr. Kane was formerly a well-known resident of Petersburg, and left here a number of years ago for New York, where he was very successful.

advisers to frame a statute that will meet these contingencies.

Mr. Doyle in Accord.

Mr. John R. Doyle, of McKenney, Va., has replied to us in these words: "I am very heartily in favor of all the seven propositions of the Anti-Saloon League's legislative program." By disclosing the attitude of Mr. Lassiter and of Mr. Doyle as to proposed temperance legislation, we give the voters of this district an opportunity of choosing between two Democrats as to the propositions under discussion. It is not the function of the league to dictate or even suggest who shall be voted for in political contests, nor to run a "yard-stick" down any candidate's throat nor to take his circumference with a tape measure, and so with the above information secured and herewith given, we feel that we have met the responsibility of the league to the public. Respectfully submitted,

PETERSBURG ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

What Mr. Lassiter Says. State Senator Charles T. Lassiter, when questioned this evening by a Times-Dispatch representative as to the statement given out this afternoon by the Petersburg Anti-Saloon League, criticizing his attitude toward the league's legislative program, replied that he had not seen the statement, and had nothing to say. He expressed the opinion that such statements were campaign documents for advertising purposes, and not news publications.

A summary of Mr. Lassiter's attitude on the Anti-Saloon League's policies recently appeared in The Times-Dispatch. He then expressed practically full accord with the league on each of its seven propositions, except the proposal to prohibit liquor agents from soliciting orders in dry cities and districts. At the same time saying that he was in no sense a prohibitionist, and was seeking the senatorial nomination at the hands of the Democratic party, and represented no faction.

Grays at Target Practice.

The Petersburg Grays are busily engaged with aiming and sighting drill, and target practice, preparatory to selecting the two best shots in the county to take part in the coming United States marine range tournament at Williamsburg, Va., in which eighty members of the Virginia militia will compete.

First Vice-President Charles Hall Davis, of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, has been corresponding with the presidents of the Atlantic Coast Line, Norfolk and Western and Seaboard Air Line Railroads regarding the proposed establishment of a union station in this city. President Garrett, of the Seaboard, says in this regard, "I would not be interested in the plan. President Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, simply thanks Mr. Davis for the offer of the good offices of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter, and President Johnson, of the Norfolk and Western, suggests a conference regarding the plan."

Death of Mrs. Belcher.

Mrs. Alfreda Belcher, widow of Andrew Belcher, died at half-past 9 o'clock last evening at her residence, on Main Road, in Ettrick, after a long period of ill health. Mrs. Belcher is survived by one son, Mr. J. E. Belcher, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. A. T. Wilson, of Gretna, Va. Mr. Roscoe Conkling Jones died yesterday afternoon at his boarding-house, on Byrne Street. Mr. Jones was twenty-five years old, and was a native of Granville county, N. C. He had resided in Petersburg about four years. His parents have been notified of his death.

DAUGHTERS ARE SORE ON TYLER

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MEMPHIS, TENN., July 10.—Searching resolutions were passed to-day by Sarah Lee Chapter, U. D. C., regarding charges preferred by General H. A. Tyler, of Hickman, Ky., against Mrs. T. J. Latham, of Memphis, and which, in the shape of circulars, were distributed at the Richmond reunion. The resolutions recite that the loyalty of Mrs. Latham to the Southern cause is unquestioned. They denounce General Tyler as unworthy to wear the Confederate gray, the Southern cross of honor or to be a member of the United Confederate Veterans. Mrs. W. A. Collier, president of J. Harvey Mathis Chapter, and Mrs. A. L. Brerard, president of Leonidas Polk Chapter, at Union City, Tenn., are also severely criticized for assisting in efforts to exalt an honored daughter of the Confederacy. The Confederate veterans of Memphis have taken up the matter and will adopt resolutions at a meeting Saturday.

General Tyler's Allegation against Mrs. Latham is that she did not favor the Confederate cause during the war and that she was not escorted to the Canadian boundary by Northern soldiers, as she is supposed to have claimed.
